Claud Garner's 5th Book Deals With Sam Houston

This week-end we received the publisher's announcement of the fifth novel by Claud W. Garner, native of Hope who now lives at Weatherford, Texas.

Mr. Garner hit the best-seller list with his very first book, "Wellback," and his second novel, "Cornbread Aristocrat," has run up sales of 2 million throughout the world. There were two more, "The Young Texans" and "Word of Honor"—and now the fifth.

It is "Sam Houston, the Giant of Texas History." Mr. Garner told me about the book at two coffee sessions last week when he and Mrs. Garner were in Hope visiting Mrs. Garner's son, George W. Robinson, Jr. Previous Garner novels have been issued from New York, but in a dispute over contract terms he decided to place "Sam Houston" with a widely-known San Antonio publisher—publishing house, The Naylor Co., from which we have just received the first press release.

Our coffee sessions last week reinforced my high opinion of Claud Garner as a versatile man with extraordinary patience for research. He pioneered farm co-operative sales in southwest Arkansas, in Florida, and in the Rio Grande Valley of south Texas. Upon retirement he turned the same passion for detailed research into the channels of literature. This is what made "Cornbread Aristocrat" a top-notch best-seller, and we can expect the same professional job on "Sam Houston."

Mr. Garner is "Mr. Arkansas" around these parts. Son of Dr. Thomas Jefferson Garner of Hope and Washington, he was born in Hope and grew to manhood in Washington. His mother was Ma Hope Haynes Garner, daughter of Thomas J. Haynes of Shover Springs. Here is the press release on "Sam Houston," from The Naylor Co., 1015 Culebra Ave., San Antonio, Texas 78201:

Claud W. Garner, Weatherford, Texas, author of such best-sellers as "Wellback," which won the Texas Institute of Letters Award in 1947, "Cornbread Aristocrat" and "The Young Texans," has recently signed a contract for the publication of his latest volume, "Sam Houston, the Giant of Texas History."

The subject matter of Garner's new volume deals with a period in Sam Houston's life that has, until now, been cloaked in mystery. Between the time Houston resigned as Governor of Tennessee until he led the bloody battle at General of the Army in the fight for Texas freedom, he lived as the adopted son of the Chief of the Cherokee Nation in Arkansas Territory. Although fiction, the information for "Sam Houston, the Giant of Texas History," was gleaned from actual documents found in former newspaper owner Fred W. Albright's files.

Mr. Garner is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason, past president of the Weatherford (Texas) Rotary Club, member of the Sons of the American Revolution and a member of the Episcopal Church.

Asks Industry to Join in Poverty Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson launched a new program today to get private industry to join with the federal government in finding jobs and training thousands of hard-core unemployed in city slums and pockets of rural poverty.

The President called on private industry to bring its resources to bear on "a critical national problem."

He proposed a national effort, backed by $10 million in federal funds, to help train "the forgotten and the neglected—those citizens handicapped by poor health, handicapped by inadequate education, hindered by years of discrimination and bypassed by conventional training programs."

Auto Union Vows to Get Demands

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 160,000 United Auto Workers members entered the 26th day of their strike against Ford Motor Co. today with union leaders' assurances they will win their demands.

More than 8,000 of them reacted with cheers and applause at a rally Sunday when UAW President Walter P. Reuther told them, "We will never surrender."

The show of determination, according to some industry sources, may break the deadlock in auto industry labor contract negotiations and open the way toward settlement.

This, at least, had been the prognosis of some industry executives who viewed the rally as a major indicator of the strikers' staying power.

The 69-year-old Reuther returns to the bargaining table at Ford today "to see if we can get things off dead center."

The strike began Sept. 7 after nine weeks of talks had resulted in no agreement on any phase of the contract. Not one paragraph had been written yet.

Reuther repeatedly attacked the industry in general and Ford in particular, accusing them of forcing the union to strike for what he called justice.

He frequently criticized Henry Ford II, board chairman and grandson of the founder of the nation's No. 2 automaker, for declining an invitation to attend the rally to explain why he called the UAW demands "unconscionable."

Ford earned more than $3.9 million in salary, bonuses and dividends last year, and Reuther cracked, "That's as much as 480 Ford workers earned that year."

Train Will Not Be Annulled

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad will no longer be "annulled."

They will be "cancelled" and you can thank the buffs who ride the Penn's Atlantic City race track special for the end of this half-century grammatical tradition.

Whenever the race-goers would see their train had been "annulled" they would argue over the use of the word.

The complaints go so loud, 30th Street Station Master Harry W. Hall said, that the railroad now uses the word "cancelled."

Thieu Is Accepted in Vietnam

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's National Assembly in effect decided tonight to accept the election of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as president.

During the day's debate the assembly accepted six criteria by which the 4.7 million votes cast were to be considered valid. The criteria were applied to the Sept. 3 election results.

The final vote in the assembly on Thieu's election appeared to be a foregone conclusion.

Bond Vote at Forrest City

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A proposed four mill tax increase needed to help finance a 152-bed expansion of the Forrest Memorial Hospital here will be placed before St. Francis County voters in an election Tuesday.

The tax would be used to retire a bond issue that would provide about half the money needed for the $3,250,000 project. The remainder of the money would come from federal Hill-Burto matching funds and from federal grants.

The expansion, to be accomplished over a 10-year period, would increase the hospital capacity from 102 beds to 260 beds and the capacity of its nursing home from 36 beds to 90 beds.

Tells Club About Water at Millwood

George Peck, President of the Southwest Arkansas Water District, spoke to the Hope Rotary Club last Friday on the subject of water for the area made available through the Millwood Dam. The Texarkana banker, a former resident of Hope who served on the Hope City Council at one time, praised the municipally owned water and light plant and told the assembled group that there has been no water rate increase in Hope in 25 years.

Because of the Millwood Dam, the industrial prospects for the entire area are good. Also, Millwood's 255 million gallons of water daily assure farmers of adequate water for irrigation purposes. The program was arranged by Fred O. Ellis, who introduced the speaker.

President Clyde Fouse welcomed those present. They included visiting Rotarians, Mr. Peck, Dr. Inon Bruce and Bernard H. Polk, both of Magnolia. Other guests were: Glen Bassett, Ed Orsini, Nelson Morgan, all of Little Rock, Wade Gilbert of the Crossroads Community, Phillip Ballard and Yvonne Barber, both members of the Hope High School Band.

School Bus, Train Crash Kills Four

WATERLOO, Neb. (AP) — A school bus and a freight train collided just west of here this morning, killing four children and injuring nine others.

None of the injured was believed to be in serious condition.

The school bus driver, though uninjured, was reported in shock after the collision, which ripped off the right rear section of the bus and tore out several rows of seats.

The number of dead was confirmed by Douglas County Hospital. At Children's Memorial Hospital, where the injured were taken, attendants said seven of the nine appeared to be mostly frightened but two were being held for observation although they did not appear to be seriously injured.

The driver was quoted as saying he stopped at the rural road intersection but because of the morning sun, he did not see the approaching train.

The bus was taking rural students to schools in Waterloo, about 15 miles west of Omaha.

W. L. Nybblein, head brakeman on the 97-car Union Pacific freight, was riding in the cab on the left hand side and reported he had seen the bus approaching.

Pieces of the bus were scattered as far as 50 feet from the crash scene.

A railroad spokesman said the intersection is on a graveled rural road and the railroad crossing is protected by a standard crossing sign.

Railroad officials said the train was going 48 miles an hour when the crash occurred.

Cities Dangers of $5 Billion Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion blanket cut in nondefense spending would disrupt orderly government, say some federal officials. And they claim it would kick up a backlash at home against congressmen now demanding huge cuts in federal spending as the price for higher taxes.

Although no official list of possibilities has been prepared, it's known that the question of a forced $5 billion cut in spending has been discussed in high administration circles.

Officials say if the Republican-backed plan succeeds, it would:

- Eliminate every new contract on every major federal construction project covered in
- Eliminate all new projects of every type.

- Cut new loans 50 per cent below planned levels, including those to farmers and small businessmen.
- Cut grants to states and local governments by one third.
- Eliminate or drastically reduce the school lunch program.

Sources said all cuts would have to come from the roughly $20 billion in spending which the administration can control. "It would hit everybody right in the stomach," one source said.

Controllable spending excludes such items as the $72.3 billion in military spending, originally proposed in January, and the $14 billion for interest on the federal debt.

The administration promised Congress to cut $2 billion from civilian programs and hopes to salvage an unknown amount from military spending not connected with Vietnam. But no specific list of cuts has been sent to Congress. The Administration says none will be until Congress completes action on all appropriation bills.

One key official said any cuts in military spending won't be based on the $72.3 billion total submitted to Congress last January, but on the $76.3 billion revised figure outlined by Johnson in August when he requested a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes.

The debate over higher taxes and spending cuts reached one climax last week when Republicans failed in a bid to fix a $131.5 billion ceiling on administrative budget spending for the current fiscal year.

U.S. Supreme Court Starts New Session by Seating Marshall

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court begins its new term today with the seating of Thurgood Marshall as the first Negro justice.

Perhaps the most prominent civil rights lawyer of the century, Marshall will swear to "administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich."

This is the "judicial" oath, one of two taken by new justices. On Sept. 1, in highly guarded privacy, Marshall took from Justice Hugo L. Black the constitutional oath, an affirmation to support and defend the Constitution.

The opening session is ceremonial and brief. Lawyers will be admitted to practice before the Court and no decisions will be announced. The justices then will retire to private sessions to determine which of the hundreds of pending appeals will be heard.

Among them are such highly controversial issues as government aid to parochial schools, school integration in the North as well as the South, jailing of draft card burners and discrimination against Negroes in private housing sales.

Already granted review are cases testing the power of police to stop and question people on the street, the constitutionality of the Lindbergh kidnapping law, registration of gamblers with the government and the use of evidence obtained by bugging public telephone booths.

Marshall, 59, served four years on the federal bench in New York and two years as U.S. solicitor general, the federal government's top lawyer before the Supreme Court. Before that, for 21 years, he was chief legal officer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

President Johnson named Marshall to the Court June 13 to succeed retired Justice Tom C. Clark. The Senate approved the nomination Aug. 30, though some Southerners quarreled with Marshall's legal philosophy.

Otherwise, the composition of the Court is the same as last year: Chief Justice Earl Warren, 76, and Associated Justices Black, 81; William O. Douglas, 68; John M. Harlan, 68; William J. Brennan Jr., 61; Potter Stewart, 52; Byron R. White, 50; and Abe Fortas, 57.

Next Monday the Court begins announcing decisions and hearing cases.

Moonshine Whiskey Seized

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — Albert Blackmon of Malvern was charged with possessing untaxed liquor and possessing untaxed liquor for sale after a raid on his home here Saturday.

Police Chief Ray Traywick said his officers confiscated 42 gallons of moonshine whiskey and eight empty five-gallon jugs in the raid.

Traywick said four separate raids by Malvern police last week resulted in similar charges against four other Malvern residents.

Bombers Cripple Reds in DMZ Area

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command claimed today that B52 bombers have inflicted crippling damage in raids on the demilitarized zone, where North Vietnamese artillerymen now are bombarding U.S. Marines at Con Thien with more words than shells.

Headquarters said that seven B52 raids in four days last week touched off 110 secondary explosions, indicating successful bomb hits on ammunition stores and fuel.

The raids, aimed at easing the enemy pressure on the Con Thien Marine base, ignited nine fires, headquarters said.

At the same time, the U.S. Command said the North Vietnamese unloaded mortar shells with propaganda leaflets three times on Con Thien last week. One leaflet said: "Hey, hey, LBJ...how many kids have you killed today?" A second said: "Americans—stop bombing innocent women and children. Leave Vietnam to the Vietnamese."

The Communist propaganda attack came after U.S. planes dropped thousands of leaflets on the North Vietnamese side of the border last week, urging civilians to defect to the South to escape the devastation of B52 bombing.

The B52s were up again today, attacking suspected Red positions in North Vietnam, 11 miles northwest of Con Thien and in the demilitarized zone four miles north of the Marine outpost.

Con Thien and nearby Marine posts guarding South Vietnam's northern border received only one round of explosive artillery and two mortar rounds Sunday, U.S. headquarters said.

Since last Wednesday, the Marines at Con Thien have been receiving light, harassing bombardments in contrast to the 500-to 1,000-shell barrages they were taking daily in the preceding weeks.

Elsewhere, there was little ground action reported across South Vietnam. The largest engagement listed by U.S. headquarters was a clash in the central highlands 23 miles south-east of Pleiku City Sunday. Infantrymen of the U.S. Army's 4th Infantry Division reported killing 28 newly equipped North Vietnamese regulars in day-long skirmishes in which the Americans were supported by helicopter gunships, artillery and rapid-firing AC47 Dragonships.

The new enemy equipment suggested that fresh troops were operating in the area, U.S. casualties were one soldier killed and two wounded, headquarters said.

Court Rules in Favor of Editor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today disposed of the last remaining litigation pending against Gene Wirges in his long battle with the political establishment in Conway County.

The court ruled that Wirges, former editor of the Morrilton Democrat, and five other defendants did not have to pay court costs arising out of eight separate cases.

The costs against Wirges arose out of his indictments for slander and conspiracy to have Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County falsely arrested.

The Supreme Court ruled that Everett Ham, assistant to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the governor's role as Republican national committeeman, also did not have to pay costs brought on by indictments against him for conspiracy and first-degree perjury.

The other defendants were Thorp Thomas, a Little Rock lawyer; Chester Boyer of Conway County; Justice of the Peace Leon Breus, and Charles F. Wells of Morrilton. Each was indicted for conspiracy.

All the indictments were dismissed, but the defendants had

LBJ to Deal With Spend and Tax Plan

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is back at the White House today to deal with the spending cut and tax increase problem and the autumn push to win congressional passage of other key administration bills.

Johnson flew back from his Texas ranch late Sunday and early today after a long week-end during which the chief executive toured the Rio Grande flood area Thursday, delivered a major Vietnam policy speech Friday and held one of his quickie news conferences. At the latter, he voiced a new plea for higher taxes and announced his selection of a new U.S. solicitor general.

Domestically, Johnson's present problem is his drive to win enactment of a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

The chief executive scheduled a noon hour meeting today with Budget Director Charles L. Schultze and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler to canvass the intertwined tax-spending question. In the early evening, he was to meet with Democratic Congressional leaders to go over the legislative situation.

At his ranch news conference Saturday, the President said passage of his tax bill was "very necessary if we are to avoid the evil effects of a more burdensome tax—inflation tax."

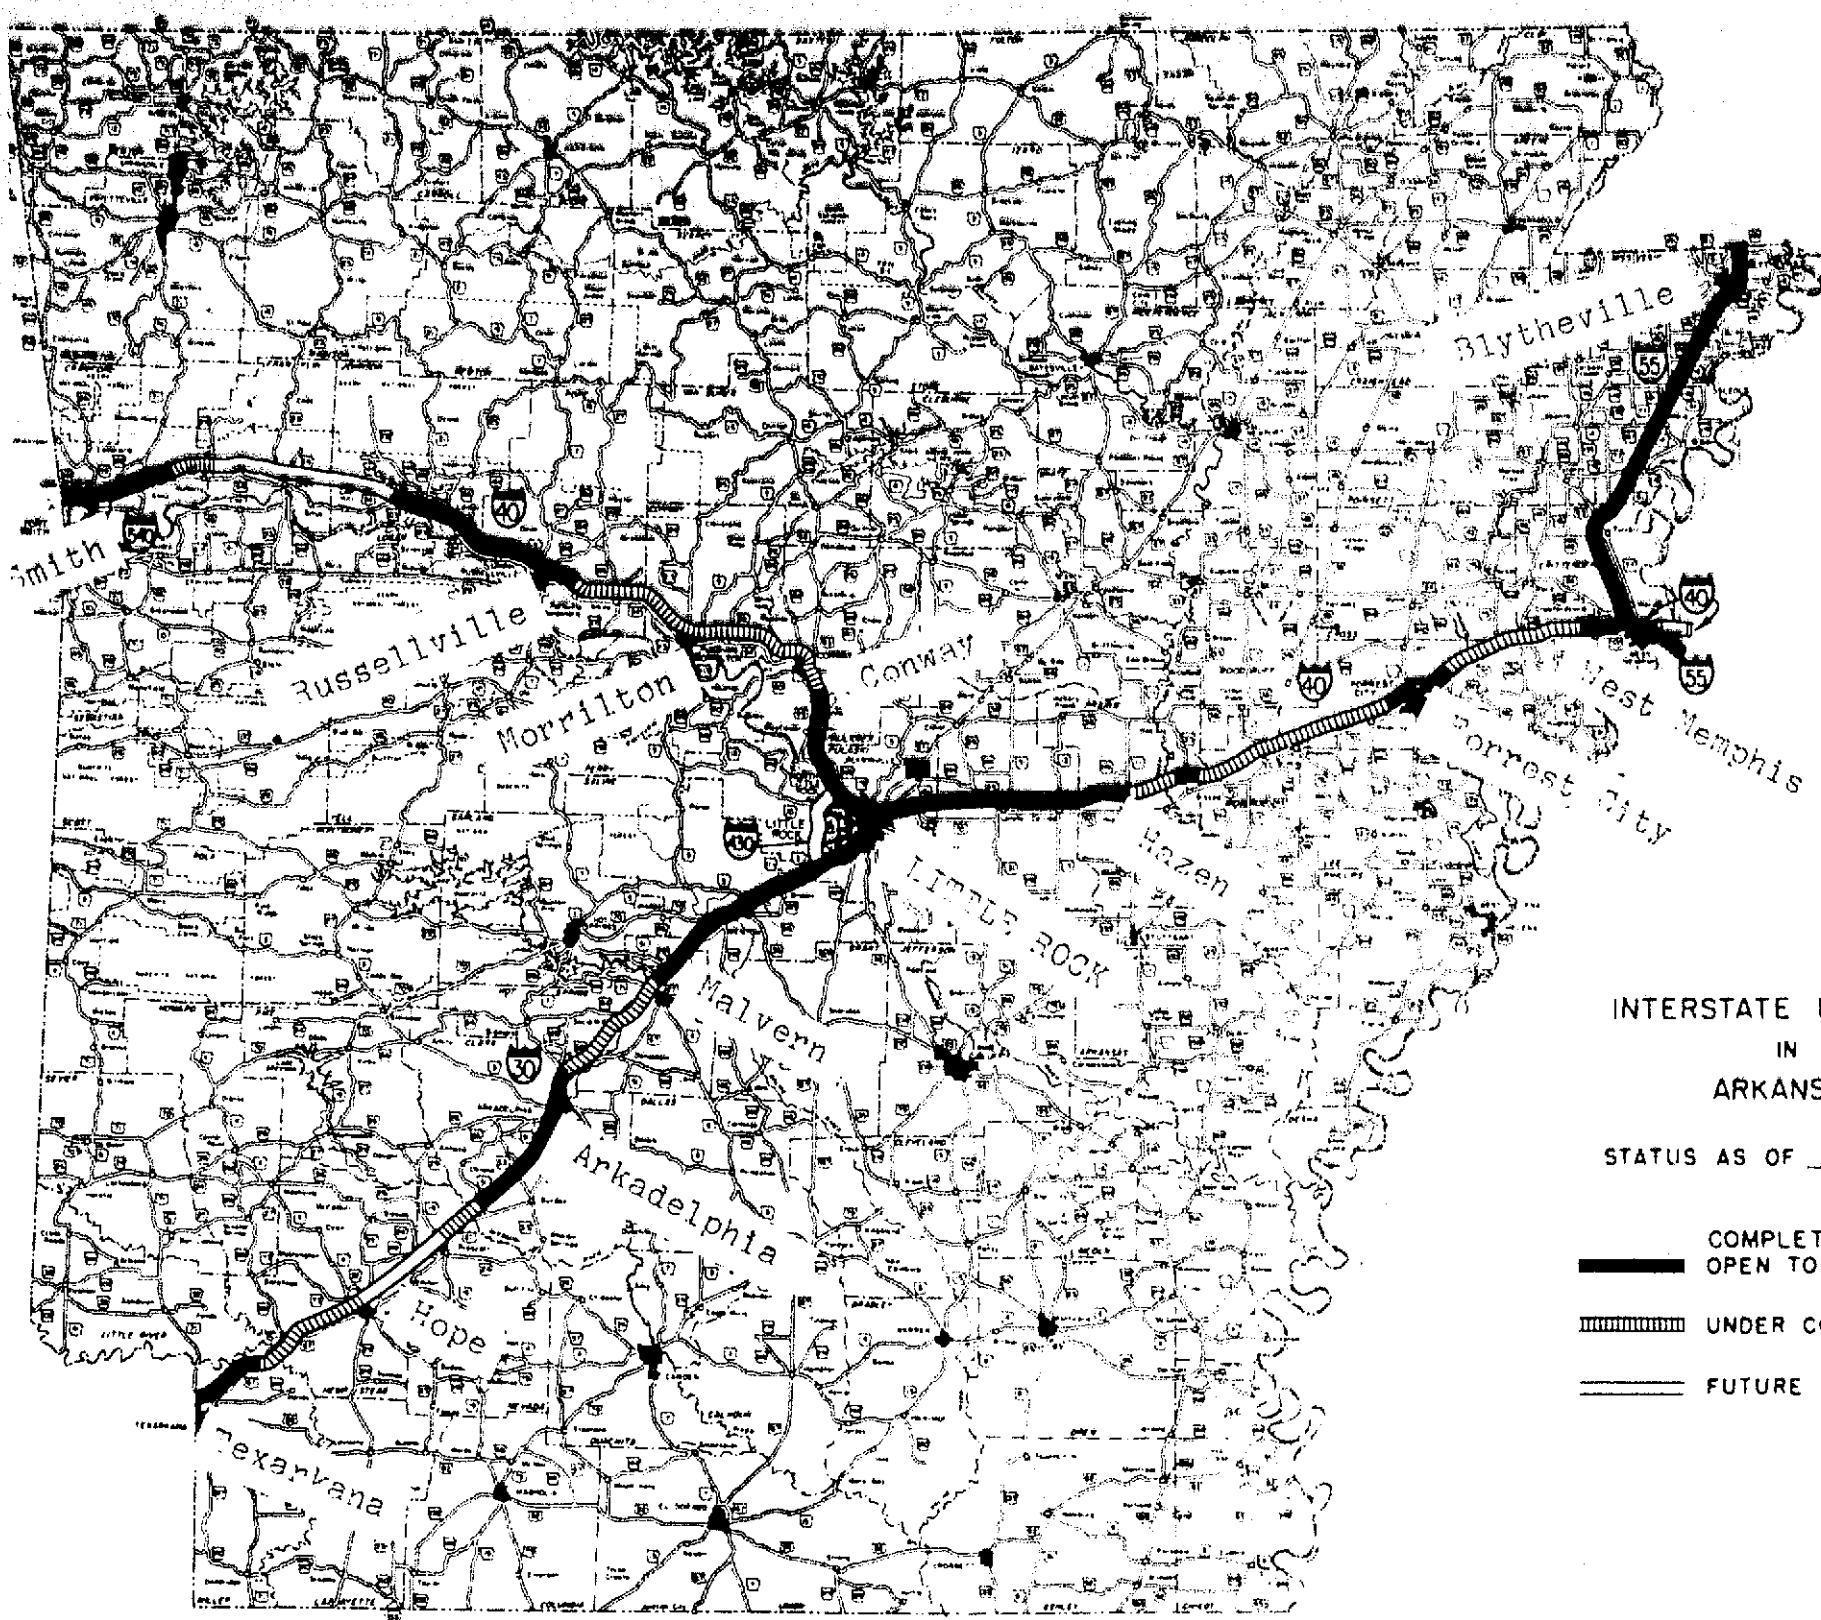

Mills said again: No spending cut, no tax increase. Johnson announced that Erwin N. Griswold, a 63-year-old registered Republican who has been dean of the Harvard Law School since 1946, would be nominated solicitor general.

Griswold would succeed Thurgood Marshall, just elevated to the Supreme Court, as the government's top trial lawyer.

The President, Lady Bird, and daughter Lynda—she with her new fiancé, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb of Milwaukee—attended Sunday services at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg, Tex., some 15 miles west of the ranch.

Mrs. Johnson did not return to Washington with the President.

Interstate Progress in Arkansas

This map, prepared by the Arkansas Highway Department, shows the status of interstate projects throughout the state. In a report prepared especially for the Associated Press, the Highway Department has broken down the 518.8-mile Arkansas portion of the interstate system in this manner: Miles open to travel, 284.9; miles completed but not yet open, 10.7 miles; miles under paving contract, 123.7; miles under grading contract, 42.3, and miles in various stages of planning, 57.2. Arkansas has four major interstate segments: Interstate 55 from Memphis to the Missouri line; Interstate 40 from Memphis to North Little Rock; Interstate 49 from North Little Rock to Fort Smith, and Interstate 30 from North Little Rock to Texarkana. Total cost of the completed system in Arkansas is estimated to be $485,000,000.

New Hurricane Threat in Texas Area

By GARY GARRISON
HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Tornadoes snaked through the flood, rain and hurricane-wracked Lower Rio Grande Valley's northern fringe today as small-craft warnings flew up from another major hurricane that blossomed in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Weather Bureau announced today the sudden appearance of Hurricane Fern. Small-craft warnings extended as far north as Brownsville-Port Isabel on the Texas lower coast, the point of entry of Hurricane Beulah.

Two tornadoes were reported at Raymondville, Tex., Monday. There were no reports of damage.

At 1 p.m. Hurricane Fern was centered some 290 miles east of Tampico, Mexico. Word of the new hurricane came as thousands of Texans went to work in earnest in repairing homes and businesses ravaged by Hurricane Beulah. Beulah's floodwaters were finally back in their banks and surging into the Gulf of Mexico.

Wirges still has two cases of his own pending. They are suits to recover $528 he contends Hawkins illegally collected from him in 1962 and to obtain a transcript of proceedings before the late Circuit Judge Wiley W. Bean of Clarksville in March 1963.

In another case, the Supreme Court reversed the conviction of Leo D. Anderson in Union Circuit Court under a child molesting law. The court said Anderson must be tried again because Circuit Court allowed inadmissible evidence to be entered in his trial.

The high court, in a unanimous opinion written by Associate Justice J. Fred Jones, said it felt that the testimony of two young brothers was sufficient to sustain a conviction. It said, however, a confession made to authorities during their investigation was inadmissible because it had been held that the admission was made without Anderson first being advised of his right to counsel.

Anderson had been sentenced to six months in jail and fined $250.

Accidents in State Claim Three

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three persons died in traffic accidents on the Arkansas highways during the 54-hour week-end period which began Friday at 6 a.m.

State Police identified the victims as Harold Dean Walker, 34, of Star City; Chester Jenders, 34, of Roland (Pulaski County); and Lawrence Ray Lingar, 20, of Coal Hill (Johnson County).

The victims died in three separate accidents.

Walker was dead on arrival at a Pine Bluff hospital Sunday after being injured in a head-on collision on U.S. 65 about two miles south of Pine Bluff. State Police said Walker's vehicle apparently crossed the center line and struck a southbound vehicle driven by Larry Joe Mitchell, 19, of Pine Bluff. Mitchell was not injured.

Jenders was struck by a car Sunday about two miles south of Stuttgart and died instantly. Officers said the car was driven by Howell Williams, 37, of Little Rock. Authorities said Jenders had left his vehicle to assist another motorist on Arkansas 11. Lingar was killed Friday in a one-car accident about nine miles west of Clarksville on U.S. 64. State Police said Lingar, at the time of the accident, apparently lost control of his vehicle in a curve at Hartman.

Walking can be as competitive as golf or any other game for some people.

They are competing against themselves, of course. It is keeping track of the distance walked and comparing it with past records which adds the zest of a game.

Here are the whimsical comments about the hobby from a veteran walker who is zealous to the point of pacing a course in a big apartment garage when the weather forbids outside activity.

"The best part about walking for a hobby is that you are regarded as some kind of a nut," he says.

"This gives you a certain kind of status—although being a nut doesn't set you apart too much these days.

"But you can amaze and disgust your friends by casually announcing that the reason you're late for whatever it is you're late for, is that you walked 10 miles this afternoon.

"This will give you some time to yourself while the other folks shy away and regard you with pity and suspicion. They think your car is in hock.

"As a guy who has attracted attention by walking at an age Boy Scouts rush to help you across the street, I have found a few ways to keep from getting bored as you hike:

• "Watch girls. The older you are, the less comes out of it and the more good, clean fun it is.

• "Window shop as you walk—assuming, of course, you are walking by windows. This is hard to do in the country.

• "But don't stop to look at things. Keep walking.

• "Set yourself a specific distance to walk. One mile at first, then two, then five, then maybe 10. By that time people are avoiding you and you can walk farther because you are alone so much.

• "Suppose you haven't time to do all that O.K., then walk on errands. You have to go after something on your lunch hour, like maybe 10 or 12 blocks? Don't take the bus. Walk. You'll find you get there and back almost as fast as you do by waiting for a bus at both ends of the trip.

• "Get a pedometer and measure your walking. This is not only interesting to you but helps convince your admirers you're not fibbing.

"You'll be surprised how much you can observe and how much thinking you can do while you walk. A lot of problems can be solved by ambulatory meditation including what to tell the wife when you show up late for dinner because you walked too far.

As you can see, this free, medically approved hobby doesn't injure the sense of humor either.

COMMENTS FOR AN "UNMARRIED HUSBAND"

Dear Helen: The "unmarried husband" who said the high cost of divorce made him a bigamist needs an answer from the other side of the fence. Here's one from a lawyer—me:

Dear "Unmarried Husband": I have several comments to make about your letter. First of all, laws have little to do with the cost of divorce. Court costs are ordinarily reasonable. Attorney fees are generally regulated by the Bar Association, at least as to the minimum charge.

If a lawyer is getting five thousand dollars for a divorce, with no children involved, I would like to meet him and see how he does it. Our minimum fee for divorce without children or property involved is $150, and costs will not run over $200.

Some states have unreasonably difficult grounds for divorce; but to blame your lack of one on cost is like hanging the wrong man. In the first place, either spouse can obtain a divorce without consent of the other. I doubt on reading your letter, that you have ever discussed your problem with a lawyer—which would cost only a few dollars for consultation fees. Or, if you have, perhaps he has priced himself out of the market to avoid representing you. This sometimes happens. We aren't eager for divorce cases, especially the bitter kind.

I feel as though lawyers are blamed for some things over which they have no control. — H.C.M., A MEMBER OF THE NEW MEXICO STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Dear Helen: I, too, am an "Unmarried Husband." My wife was a borderline mental case even before I married her, but I hoped her condition would improve. Instead it worsened, and her mother, the doctor and I agreed she must be institutionalized.

I have been supporting my mentally incompetent wife for more than 20 years. This I expect, but the laws of my state (New Jersey) do not recognize insanity as grounds for divorce. My wife's mother brought court action against me simply because I found a companion who has been everything to me that a real wife should be. I feel that I am doing no wrong. The law is wrong, and someday, it will be changed, but not in time to help us.—E.W.

Dear Helen: I am the LEGAL wife of one of these "Unmarried Husbands." My "husband" isn't accumulating any property or children now either, but he left me stranded with a mortgage to pay, plus all the expenses and problems of raising two boys alone.

I think that instead of blaming the women for all men's sins, people should consider what we put up with in this type of immature, selfish man before he finally deserts. He is the kink who can't stand to be tied down. He wants excitement, race cars, other women, and to be free as the wind. At least mine did. — LEGAL WIFE

Dear Helen: The letter from "Unmarried Husband" was like finding a long lost friend. Several years ago my husband deserted me and our three small children. My family turned away from me because they believe I am at fault. They're wrong, but I'm too proud to argue. I scraped along on small support checks which eventually stopped.

A year later I met a man who had married at 19 to give a baby his name. He was never sure the baby was his, and two months later the marriage ended, but his wife refused a divorce. With no money to bring the matter to court, he lived as a single, yet married, man. My husband refused a divorce too, and while I was able to borrow enough for court costs, no law firm will advance costs for a contested suit. So here we were, so much in love, but not able to marry. Then one day I realized my sanity was at stake, so we made our move. "We 'disappeared,'" and became Mr. and Mrs. in another state.

Maybe the vows we made to each other weren't legal, but they were made in our hearts. The five of us are very happy now, and little by little our prayers are being answered.

Two days ago my husband's legal wife filed for divorce because she is carrying another man's child. Maybe in time my ex-husband will tire of his cat and mouse game and set me free. You probably realize that if I sued for divorce he'd take my children away from me on grounds that I am "immoral."

Somewhere there's an answer other than money, but people only scorn our kind of love—and there's not enough of us with courage left to fight for a chance in laws—laws that permit men and women alike to hogtie spouses they don't want but won't share—MARRIED IN OUR HEARTS.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help you! She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address: Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star, Copyright, 1967, Inc.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—The current popularity of feature films shown six nights a week on the television networks is easy to understand while they are all loading in their most attractive movies with the most powerful star names to lure audiences.

In just the past week we had on tap Peter Sellers and David Niven in a farce, "The Pink Panther;" "Mutiny on the Bounty;" a Jerry Lewis comedy; another comedy with Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward and, Thursday night, Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" with Elizabeth Taylor.

All this may be great for the home audiences, but a large number of the fairly recent films turned over to television in those multimillion-dollar packages were made for the "adult audiences." Some are so adult-oriented that they give the network censors some troubled moments.

"Never on Sunday," a hit to be run this weekend, has a central character who is a prostitute. It was run and rerun at the network, and in the end a few minutes of film was snipped out, in the interests of good taste and to forestall complaints about excessive sex and nudity.

"We try to edit out material which is offensive," said one network censor. "We're not afraid of any mature themes or strong drama if they are well handled. We don't even mind strong language if it is necessary. But where it is a matter of simple good taste, we try to do something."

The networks do get mail complaints about such matters, however, most comes from adults who say they were embarrassed by a show while watching it with a youngster.

Many writers who move between movies and television find there is much more freedom in films and two of them, Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, formerly "Dick Van Dyke Show" writers and now producers of "Good Morning World," say that the network censors operate on "a double standard."

All three networks deny it. Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight—"American Profiles," NBC, 10-11 EDT, premiere of a new actuality series starting with "Our Endangered Wildlife."

Teachers on Strike in Uruguay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—A teachers' strike has closed high schools in this capital, partial work stoppages have interrupted bank operations and the leftist National Convention of Workers has threatened the second nationwide strike in two months.

Continuing labor disputes are adding to the woes of this inflation-ridden country.

The national workers' group, which claims 400,000 members, said its 24-hour strike will be in support of newspapermen of Uruguay's nine major dailies, shut down for three months by a wage dispute.

Bobcats to Play Eagles Here Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

racing the strongest test of the year last Friday night, the Hope Bobcats lost their second 4-A game, falling to the Malvern Leopards 27-0 at Malvern.

The Cats played on fairly even terms for most of the first half, but in the second half Malvern showed superiority in the passing game that was unexpected, and rode to victory on the crest of a big, quick defense. Quarterback Mac Stroud, a surprise starter, rattled the Hope defensive secondary repeatedly, and the law of percentages finally caught up with the Bobcats.

Head Bobcat Coach Freddie Glaze can be proud of his squad, though, as the Cats gave a gallant effort throughout the contest, even amassing a last minute drive that carried to the Malvern 3 at the final whistle. The Bobcats looked very good in their new offense, in which the three backs line one behind the other, either to the left, to the right, or to the back of the quarterback. Some changes in the line came about, as Coach Glaze wanted to give more boys rest, playing only on offense or defense.

As a whole, the Bobcats' offensive line was much improved. Tackles David Fincher and Gary Golden; guards Donnie Middlebrooks and John Henley; and center David Jones gave their all against the giant Malvern defensive front. On defense, Fincher, Jerry McWilliams, Billy Gibson, Mickey Allen, Henley, and Rodney Jones held Malvern to some 88 yards rushing. Sophomore linebackers Larry McWilliams and Jimmy Alford played outstanding games, backing up the line as well as covering for short passes. The secondary, composed of Alan Phillips, Jerry Still, and Buzz Andrews, gained invaluable experience as the Leopards passed 27 times.

Back to the offense, ends Jimmy Singleton, Mike Murphy, and Jerry Sanders gave good performances, running from new sets which split both ends. Newly installed halfbacks Buzz Andrews and Joe McMurrrough ran the plays to perfection, and QB Larry Massanelli proved that he can execute and call a game nearly to perfection. Also, fullback Jerry McWilliams showed that his speed and quickness will bring him some honors before his high school career is over.

Even in defeat the Bobcats showed the enthusiasm and desire that it takes to win ball games. "These boys are on the field to play football, not for their health," said Freddie Glaze. It couldn't have been put any better. As for the Malvern game itself, only a couple of bad breaks made the score look as bad as it does.

A high snap on a punting situation gave Malvern a strong advantage of field position early in the first period. The high snap was to punter Buzz Andrews who barely got it off for 14 yards, way below his usual 35 yard average. Finally the inevitable score came on a 38-yard pass from Mac Stroud to John Starks, and Bruce Efford's PAT gave Malvern a 7-0 margin.

The Bobcats remained out of a deep hole in the second period, and the stingy defensive unit kept the Leopards from scoring position. At halftime Hope trailed 7-0, and the statistics were fairly even, Malvern leading the Bobcats on total offense 88-36. By the half Hope had not completed a single pass.

Hope took the second halfkick-off, but the third quarter was the clincher for the Leopards, scoring two TD's and setting up a third. Andrews returned the kick to the Hope 43, and the Bobcats had fairly good position. But on first down Hope fumbled, and Rodney Petty jumped on it for Malvern. Here the Leopards moved on the ground for a first, but Mike Murphy intercepted for the Bobcats at the Hope 21 to throttle that offense.

From the 21, penalties pushed the Cats back to the 2-yard line, from where Hope had to punt. Andrews' hurried boot went out of bounds at the Hope 25, and Malvern was ready to strike. On fourth and eight Eddie Wright faded and fired to Rusty Crawford at the 15, and from there he galloped in for the score, but a clipping penalty set the ball back to the 17. Then a quick pass from Stroud to John Starks gave the home team the ball at the Hope 8, but a personal foul called on Hope moved the pigskin to the four.

Climaxing the 7 play, 25 yard drive, wingback Ernie Cox romped two yards for the score. Efford's kick was good, and Malvern led 14-0 with 5:49 left in the third quarter. Then the fireworks began.

Taking the ensuing kickoff, the Bobcats were pushed back by the mean Leopard defense putting Buzz Andrews back deep in his end zone to kick. At the snap three Malvern linemen charged on the punter, and Andrews was upended by all three just as he laid foot into the ball. The punt went only 17 yards, but the obvious "roughing the kicker" penalty of 15 yards was not induced, and the head referee on the spot had his head turned and missed the infraction.

From the Hope 23 the Leopards wasted no time, scoring the TD on first down, with Mac Stroud pitching to end John Starks for 23 yards to paydirt. Efford kicked the point, and Malvern now led 21-0 with 3:10 remaining in the third period.

Taking the ball once again, Hope moved, on a keeper by Andrews, to the 45, but a holding penalty placed the Cats neatly back on the 12. Quickly halfback on defense Rusty Crawford intercepted a Hope aerial, and once again Malvern was on the attack. At the end of the period the Leopards had moved to the Hope 26 yards on 7 plays to the three, and Mac Stroud took it over from that point on the first play of the final stanza. Efford kicked wide, and the 27-0 win was complete.

With the Malvern ordeal now past, the Bobcats can now look forward to this Friday night, as Hope plays host to the Crossett Eagles. This match is the Bobcats' homecoming battle, and the Cats are traditionally inspired to great things before the royalty. The Bobcat homecoming queen, Miss Gail Hartsfield, will be crowned Friday.

Fitzsimmons, Sharkey Next KXAR Fight

The Garrulous Gobtangles with Sunny Boy in Fight No. 4 of the All Time Heavyweight Championship Tournament Monday at 8:30 on Radio Station KTPA.

Bob Fitzsimmons, a great slugger, held the title from March 1897 to June 1899; while Jack Sharkey, who claims to be the man who first recaptured the title, reigned from June 1932 to June 1933.

The winner of this match continues in the computerized tournament meeting Joe Lovy who defeated Jess Willard in last Monday's battle on KXAR, Hear a repeat of this fight at 6:30 p. m.

The fight promises to be a dandy, pitting Fitzsimmons, a great puncher, against Sharkey, who said he changed his style depending on the man he opposed.

Concerning this match, Sharkey said at his home in Epping, New Hampshire, "You might say that Fitzsimmons was a terrific puncher, but his opponents were few. He must have been somebody because he licked and knocked out a couple of good fighters like Stanley Ketchel, if I fought him, I would be the boxer and he would be the slugger. If he tried to box with me, I'd box and then when I could get my punch in, I would do that."

Sharkey predicted he'd beat Fitzsimmons in or out of a computer. But at this moment, the question is — "Does he or doesn't he?" Only the NCR 315 Computer knows for sure!

Texas Is Loser to Texas Tech

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer Southern California, UCLA and surprising Houston have emerged as the dominant factors in an upset-filled college football season, replacing Notre Dame, Michigan State and Alabama as the Big Three.

And Purdue, sparked by sophomore quarterback Mike Phipps, is making a major bid for attention, offering a 28-21 upset of mighty Notre Dame as its chief claim to fame.

"He's going to be a great one," Purdue Coach Jack Molenkopf said of his quarterback after Phipps had passed for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion Saturday as the Boilermakers handed the top-ranked Irish their first defeat since Nov. 20, 1965 and jumbled the national ratings.

The Boilermakers were ranked No. 10 going in, but are almost certain to advance, along with the two Los Angeles powers and Houston, No. 3, which scored a 50-6 rout of Wake Forest Friday.

Southern California, No. 2, got another stellar performance from O. J. Simpson and scored its second straight impressive decision, handing Michigan State its second loss, 21-17. Simpson ran for 190 yards and two touchdowns and passed for another score.

And UCLA, No. 4, made a big bid with a whopping 51-23 rout of Washington State behind the one-two punch of Gary Beban and Greg Jones. Beban passed for one touchdown and ran for one, while Jones scampered for two more.

Alabama, jarred out of its No. 2 spot by a last week, and now No. 9, came back with a 25-3 decision over Southern Mississippi, reinstated quarterback Kenny Stabler passing for three touchdowns.

Texas, No. 8, suffered its second straight loss, a 19-13 upset at the hands of Texas Tech. Kin Binyard kicked field goals of 37 and 54 yards, while John Scovell ran for one touchdown and 175 yards, and passed for another for the Red Raiders.

In some other major upsets, Arizona beat Ohio State 14-7, Arizona State crushed Wisconsin 42-16, Tulsa edged Arkansas 14-12, North Carolina State took Florida State 20-10, Tulane whipped North Carolina 36-11, Louisiana State defeated Texas A&M 17-6 and Rice turned back Navy 21-7.

Georgia, No. 5, and Nebraska, No. 7, ran their records to 2-0, Georgia taking Clemson 24-17 and Nebraska holding off Minnesota 7-0.

Sixth-ranked Colorado was not scheduled.

Figures the Colts Need Only Unitas

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer The blonde flanker back in the blue and white miniskirt feints a corner back out of position and daintily gathers in a perfect pass from Johnny Unitas.

What, Johnny Unitas—The Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts—playing football with the girls?

Of course not. It's just a vision—the kind San Francisco coach Jack Christiansen had after the great quarterback dazzled the 49ers and led the Colts to a 41-7 victory in a National Football League game Sunday.

"As long as the Colts have Unitas, they could play nine or 10 girls and still beat other teams," Christiansen said.

While Unitas was impressing Christiansen and undermining the 49ers, things were continuing to go badly for his Green Bay counterpart Bart Starr.

Starr, who had nine passes intercepted, compared to three all last season, as the Packers tied and won in their first two games, was forced out of action in the first period of Sunday's game with Atlanta by a strained muscle in his throwing arm. Zeke Bratkowski came in to lead the Packers to a 23-0 victory.

In other NFL games, Los Angeles smashed Dallas 35-13, St. Louis upset Detroit 30-28, Washington outlasted New York 38-34, Philadelphia topped Pittsburgh 34-24, Cleveland trounced New Orleans 42-7 and Chicago got past Minnesota 17-7.

New York beat Miami 29-7, Houston edged Denver 10-6, San Diego walloped Buffalo 37-17 and Oakland upset Kansas City 23-21 in the American Football League.

I've ever seen," Christiansen said after watching Unitas complete 22 of 37 passes for 353 yards and two touchdowns as the Colts built their record to 3-0. Unitas left the game with nearly eight minutes left.

San Francisco, now 2-1, didn't score until late in the third quarter when John Brodie hit Dave Parks with a 10-yard pass.

Porkers Drop Second Game of Season

Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Frank Broyles, the Arkansas Razorbacks, and the current Arkansas fans are unaccustomed to the position they are now in but Broyles wants to sympathy.

Arkansas dropped a 14-12 decision Saturday to Tulsa on the heels of a 7-6 loss to Oklahoma State University and for the first time since 1958 has not recorded a victory in either of its first two games.

The Porkers lost their first six in 1958—Broyles' first year.

"We can't feel sorry for ourselves and we don't want the fans to feel sorry for us," Broyles said Sunday. "The coaches have confidence in the players and we don't want any sympathy. We're going to forget these two and we're going to get better."

The Razorbacks lost to Tulsa for the same reasons they lost to OSU. They gave up the ball near their own goal line once each game and they failed to make necessary yardage on crucial short yardage situations.

The Porkers fumbled on own 30 against OSU and the Cowboys took it in for the winning touchdown. Quarterback Ronny South threw for an interception in the third quarter against Tulsa and defensive halfback Ken Wington returned it 36 yards to the Arkansas 4.

Junior quarterback Mike Stripling, who scored both Tulsa touchdowns, took it in three plays later and Doug Wyatt kicked it to 14-6.

Arkansas, with a 6-0 lead, failed to make a first down at the Tulsa 17 in the second quarter in what Broyles called one of the "turning points" in the ball game.

The Razorbacks, with John Eichler at quarterback, moved from their own 20 to the Tulsa 19 where they had third and two. Tailback Russell Cody got one yard on third down but was stopped short on fourth down.

"If it hadn't been so close to a first down we would have tried a field goal," Broyles said. "That was a turning point when we didn't score there. That was the real deciding point in the game."

The Razorbacks were behind 14-12 with slightly more than ten minutes to go when in the fourth minutes they faced a third and one situation at the Arkansas 45. Tulsa stacked up the 182-pound Cody twice.

"We've got to realize that we don't have the big linemen or the big backs to knock them down," said Broyles. "We were playing a little bit better defensively so we should have kicked or either we should have tried to throw for the touchdown."

"It was very bad quarterbacking on my part," Broyles said. Tulsa outgained Arkansas in the first half but went in at the half trailing 6-0. Tommy Tranter intercepted a Tulsa pass at the Tulsa 16 and the Razorbacks went from there with Cody scoring the Porkers' first touchdown of the year on a one-yard run. South's kick was wide with less than 30 seconds remaining in the first period.

"We were fortunate to be ahead," said Broyles. "They outplayed us but we had the interception. It was somewhat of a false lead."

Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs turned the Hurricane quarterbacking job over to Stripling and the 207-pounder guided them 80 yards in eight plays for the go-ahead touchdown.

He hit three of four passes on the drive and went the last eight yards himself.

"We didn't anticipate them coming back with Stripling," said Broyles. "He improvised two big plays in the game. He completely turned the tide of the game."

The Razorbacks came roaring back following Stripling's second touchdown, marching 64 yards with Fitcher at quarterback. Eichler hit on passes of 19 and 12 yards to Dennis Bernier and threw 15 yards to David Dickey at the Tulsa 20. Dickey scored three plays later but Eichler's two-point pass was incomplete with 1:03 left in the third period.

Tulsa linebacker Bob Junko, who was in on 22 tackles, stopped the final Arkansas threat with an interception of a South pass at the Tulsa 40.

"We lost to two pretty good football teams by one point and two points on our own mistakes," said Broyles. "We just weren't able to put it together."

"We're still making the little mistakes," Broyles said. "But, if we keep saying wood things are going to get better."

Gentleman Jim Boston's Man of Hour

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer Jim Lonborg went to a lot of trouble trying to shake his Fenway Park jinx . . . and wound up losing his shirt.

It was the best thing that's ever happened to Gentleman Jim in Boston . . . and the finest moment for the Red Sox in 21 years.

Frenzied fans ripped the shirt off Lonborg's back in a wild demonstration of affection Sunday after the big right-hander teamed with sensational Carl Yastrzemski to lead the Red Sox past Minnesota 5-3 and bring Boston its first American League pennant since 1918.

"It was sheer mania," said Lonborg, whose seven-hit victory over the slugging Twins—coupled with an 8-5 Detroit loss to California—put the Red Sox over the top on the frantic final day of the zaniest pennant race in history.

"F a n t a s t i c! Fantastic!" shouted Yastrzemski, the Triple Crown strongboy whose third of four straight hits helped Boston overtake the Twins with a five-run sixth inning burst and complete one of baseball's most dramatic comeback sagas . . . a drive from ninth place in 1966 to a World Series berth opposite St. Louis' National League champs.

The Red Sox wet into the climactic weekend set with Minnesota needing a two-game sweep to avert elimination.

They won 6-4 on Saturday as Yastrzemski poled his 44th homer and knocked in four runs. And they won Sunday behind Lonborg, who had won 21 games but was only 7-5 in his home park . . . and who had failed to beat the Twins in six career decisions including three this year.

Lonborg was taking no chances in his effort to end the Fenway hex. He spent Saturday night at a hotel, using roommate Ken Harrelson's room, instead of staying at his own apartment in Boston.

"Maybe I was being superstitious, thinking about any hex at Fenway," he said. "I figured I'd stay in a hotel and pretend I was on the road."

"When I woke up this morning I felt great. I felt I was going to win."

Lonborg's "great" feeling appeared early in the final as the Twins pushed over a pair of unearned runs and led 2-0 going into the sixth.

"Then all hell broke loose," Dick Williams, the Sox' first-year manager, recalled happily. The loss dropped the Twins into a second-place deadlock with the Tigers, won 3-2 their doubleheader opener 6-4 before being ousted by the gas-sucking Angels. Minnesota and Detroit finished one game . . . and just six percentage points . . . behind the Red Sox whose winning percentage was the lowest in A.L. history.

Washington knocked out the Chicago White Sox 4-2, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 4-0 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 4-3 in other A.L. finales.

In National League play, St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 4-3 in the final Series turn-off, while Cincinnati placed San Francisco 4-2 in Philadelphia. The Pittsburgh thumped Houston 1-0, Cincinnati buried the Chicago Cubs 3-0 and Los Angeles shelved the New York Mets 2-1.

Lonborg, who completed his third major league campaign with a 22-9 mark and a good shot at the Cy Young Award as the A's' outstanding pitcher, ignited Boston's sixth inning explosion with a bunt single off Minnesota ace Dean Chance.

"The bunt was my own idea," he said. "It was the first thing I thought about when I went to the plate."

Singles by Jerry Adair and Dalton Jones then filled the bases before Yastrzemski drilled a two-run single to center, tying the score. "I kept telling myself 'Don't go for the home run, go for the base hit,'" said the Boston slugger, who topped the league with a .326 average and 121 runs batted in and tied Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for the home run crown with 44.

Mormon Shrine Observes Its 100th Year

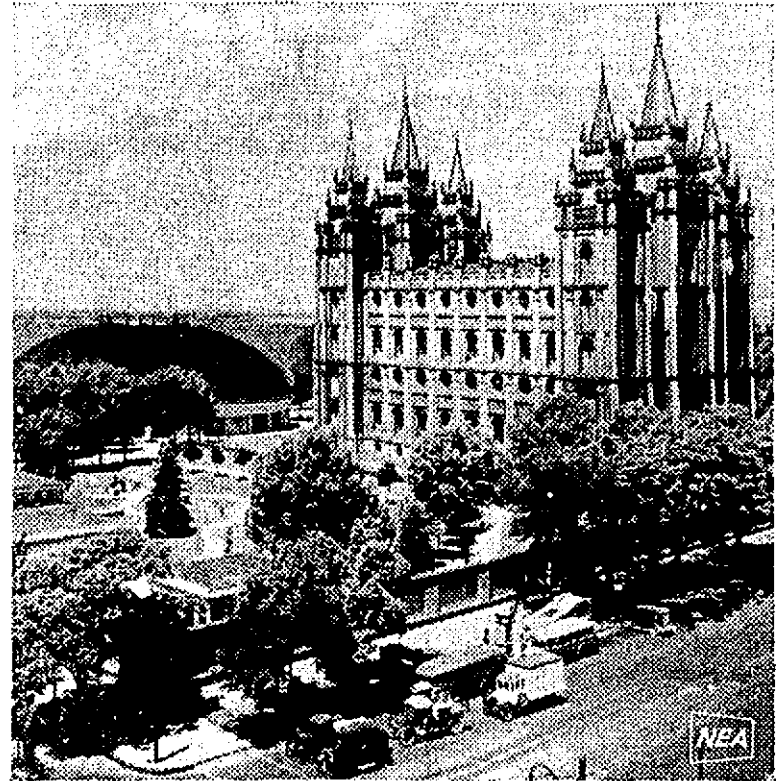

THE MORMON TABERNACLE, acoustical wonder and monumental house of worship of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, is 100 years old. Work on the giant inverted bowl started in 1863, only 16 years after Mormon pioneers arrived in the Salt Lake Valley, led by Brigham Young, after fleeing religious persecution in the Midwest. Built on 44 giant sandstone pillars in the days when oxen were the principal means of transporting materials, it was completed in 1867. Above right, the dome was already formed as the foundation was still being laid for the Mormon Temple, which was started 10 years earlier.

Brigham Young

The tabernacle is 250 feet long, 150 feet wide and 80 feet high. Built before a time of steel girders and tie rods, the timbers of its massive roof are latticed and pinned together with large wooden pins. Acoustical qualities of the interior are world-famous. To-day, along with the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City's Temple Square, at right, it is one of the principal Mormon Shrines.

Jim: "Let's discuss 'play from equals' this week."
Oswald: "A defender's play from equals should be designed primarily to help his partner, a declarer's to fool the defense. In other words, defenders play conventionally, the declarer unconventionally."

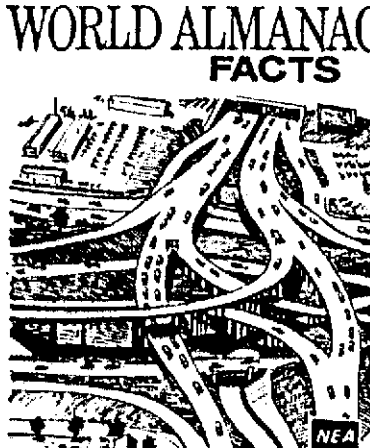

Jim: "In leading equals you lead the higher except with ace-king where the normal lead is the king although currently many players lead ace from ace-king against suit or no-trump contracts or both."
Oswald: "When a defender reverses his normal play of equals he may be trying to fool declarer or he may be indicating a doubleton. It is

The common cold is a virologist's nightmare because over 100 strains of virus are believed to be capable of causing it. It may occur at any age except that infants under 6 months of age are unlikely to get it because of immune agents carried over from their mother's blood.

Some children appear to have a greater natural immunity to colds than others. A well-nourished child is just as likely to get a cold as a poorly nourished one but the latter will have a more severe attack with a greater chance of developing such complications as middle ear, sinus and mastoid infections or pneumonia.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Reports from California, says The World Almanac, indicate that the car, the freeway and parking lots are usurping an alarmingly large proportion of land. Sixty per cent of the land surface of Los Angeles is dedicated to freeways, streets, driveways, parking lots, garages and gas stations in downtown Los Angeles the percentage rises to 72.

Blanda Not Ready for Rocker

By HAL BUCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Blanda isn't ready for that rocking chair quite yet, thank you.

Football's grand old gray-beard proved that Sunday when he booted three long field goals that helped Oakland's ambitious Raiders upset Kansas City, the American Football League's defending champions, 23-2.

It was an oldtime performance for the 39-year-old Blanda, who played his first professional football game when Harry Truman was president and Joe Namath had just started grade school.

Blanda, crowded out by younger men at Houston, is a hit elderly to be dodging blitzing linebackers at his old quarter-back slot. But he can still kick a football, and after all, that's what the game is all about.

So Blanda hooked on with the Raiders and came in handy Sunday with field goals of 31, 33 and 42 yards as Oakland stunned the Chiefs. It was Kansas City's first loss to an AFL opponent in almost one year and the last time the Chiefs were beaten in their own league, Oakland also did the job.

In other AFL games Sunday, Namath, who is no longer in grade school, passed for 415 yards and broke a league record as New York dropped Miami 29-7, San Diego, led by rookie running back Dick Post, ripped Buffalo 31-17, and Houston won a defensive struggle from Denver, 10-6.

In the National League, Philadelphia dropped Pittsburgh 34-24, Green Bay shut out Atlanta 23-0, St. Louis whipped Detroit 38-28, Baltimore bombed San Francisco 41-7, Washington outlasted New York 38-34, Los Angeles ripped Dallas 35-13, Cleveland walloped New Orleans 42-7 and Chicago downed Minnesota 17-7.

Daryle Lamonic shared the Raiders' spotlight with Blanda, passing for 236 yards and completing 23 of 38 attempts, Coach John Rauch was delighted with the victory over the Chiefs.

"It was a tremendous win for us," said Rauch. "It gives us the opportunity to get up on top. I'm glad we did it before the Eastern trip which has always been tough."

The Raiders open a three-game tour of the East in New York Saturday night and Blanda might be interested in watching Namath was intercepted only once and by then he had gained 398 yards through the air. That broke the mark of 375 yards gained without an interception set by New York's Al Dorow in 1960.

Namath might have had a shot at Blanda's league record of 464 yards gained but sat out the last four minutes, Coach Weeb Ewbank and Namath talked over the strategy of going for the mark.

"I know you're close to the record," Ewbank told Namath, "but I'd hate to see you get hurt." Namath agreed. "Records make no difference to me," he said. "They're nice to have, but I really couldn't care."

Buffalo dropped its third straight with Post doing most of the damage for San Diego. The youngster gained 121 yards on 20 carries and John Hadl picked up 282 more through the air or 13 of 31 with two TDs.

"It doesn't take too good a team to beat us now," said Joel Collier, coach of the Bills.

Houston's Hoyle Granger became the first man in the league to pass the 100 yards gained mark twice this season when he picked up 136 in 20 carries against the Broncos. But it took a 39-yard return of an intercepted pass by Miller Farr to win it for the Oilers.

AUTOMATIC TESTING is done with the twist of a dial at Foothill Junior College, Los Altos, Calif., providing instructors with rapid means of correcting tests and other classroom work. In response to the instructor's multiple-choice question, the student sets the dial at the desk to the letter corresponding to the chosen answer. On the instructor's electronic command at the lectern, answers are entered into a Raytheon computer, which instantaneously corrects them and totals students' scores, giving the instructor an immediate look at class progress.

Presidents Find Out the Hard Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems simple and is anything but. Presidents from the beginning to Lyndon B. Johnson all knew it. Some found out the hard way. And there has been some tragedy in the process.

Deals with other nations were mostly by treaty 160 years ago when the constitution-makers were stitching the document together. Never imagining the problems to come, they gave foreign affairs a fast brush.

Almost all the Constitution says about the foreign field is in Article II: The president can make treaties with the "advice and consent" of the Senate, if two-thirds of the senators approve.

In short, the president can take the initiative in foreign affairs but the Senate can veto him. This was an invitation to conflict since presidents and the Senate are jealous of their powers. Conflict followed.

The oversimplified formula did not allow for the difficulty of getting a two-thirds Senate vote—particularly when the opposition party controls the Senate. There were no political parties in 1787. Nor was allowance made for such human factors as ill-will in wrecking a treaty. President Woodrow Wilson and the powerful Republican senator, Henry Cabot Lodge, hated each other.

Lodge was captain of the forces which killed Wilson's plea to the Senate to approve joining the League of Nations. History would have been different if Wilson had won.

Exactly what does "advice" mean? And when should a President ask the Senate for it, after negotiating a treaty down to the last detail or before he even starts on it, not knowing what details the other side wants? George Washington, as first president, had to get the first answers. Naturally, he thought getting the Senate's advice on a treaty meant getting it before he made one. He was working on a treaty with the southern Indians.

He went before the full Senate and had Vice President John Adams read the main points. Outside, passing carriage made so much noise the senators could not hear Adams. He had to re-read.

Then the senators got into an argument among themselves over whether they should see all, or just some, of the documents. One of them finally suggested turning the whole business over to a committee.

Burned up, Washington stalked out, saying "this defeats every purpose of my coming here." One senator, burned up at Washington, wrote later that the president was trying to step on the senators' necks.

After that, presidents might talk with individual senators about a treaty-in-the-making but they finished their treaties before sending them to the Senate for "advice and consent" and the two-thirds vote.

Just waiting for that two-thirds approval means delay on a major treaty. Wilson thought he could stir public opinion to pressure the Senate into approving the League. He barnstormed the country, made 37 speeches, and then physically collapsed, never fully to recover. And his fight was lost.

With all these two-thirds difficulties in mind presidents began finding shortcuts by making "executive agreements" with other nations. These did not need Senate approval, at least not all the time.

And they tried other things, like getting the Senate and the House to approve what they did by passing a resolution which only needed a majority vote.

This is how Presidents John Tyler in 1845 and William McKinley in 1898 managed to get Texas and Hawaii annexed when they could not get a two-thirds Senate vote.

Right now there is a move afoot in the form of a resolution in the Senate, where a lot of the members are upset over Johnson's handling of the Vietnamese war, to restrict his powers in foreign affairs.

It's a half-baked move, since a resolution is not legally binding. But it could, if approved by the Senate, damage Johnson by undercutting his prestige and effectiveness with the rest of the world.

Soviets Seek to Extend Arms Program

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW MOSCOW (AP) — Since the defeat of Soviet-armed Arabs by Israel in June, the Soviet Union has sought to draw more Arab nations into its arms-aid program and thus extend its political influence in the Middle East. The Soviet Union has offered weapons and military training to three nations not previously in the Kremlin's arms program. They are Sudan, where a Soviet military mission is now holding talks, Yemen, where talks were held last month, and Jordan, whose king is coming here Monday. Only Western-armed Jordan appears uninterested so far.

The Soviet Union has long been arming Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Algeria and Somalia. Efforts to get more influence out of arms aid to Egypt are visible and there are reasons to expect them in some other nations, diplomatic observers say.

The Soviet press has severely criticized the Egyptian armed forces as having been led by right-wing sons of the landlord class rather than persons imbued with a Socialist spirit. The press here has openly suggested that changes are needed. According to a Soviet source, the late Field Marshal Hakim Abdel Amer kept officers who had been trained in the Soviet Union from attaining important command positions. He mistrusted them. The sources suggested that this would now change.

The Soviet Union probably has little hope of being paid for the weapons it is sending to Middle Eastern nations. Most of the nations are having a hard time running their nonmilitary economies. Only one underdeveloped nation now receiving Soviet weapons looks like a good prospect to pay for them. That is Iran, which agreed early this year to buy $110 million worth of military equipment and pay with piped natural gas.

The payment perhaps being sought in other countries is political influence, but such influence can be an uncertain element.

Buy a Flameless Clothes Dryer

Hanging's just not good enough for the wonderful new permanent press clothes! It takes the gentle tumbling action and automatically controlled heat cycles of a flameless electric clothes dryer to keep the "permanent" in permanent press.

Permanent or durable press clothes are impregnated with a shape-setting fluid which is activated by heat after the garment is made and pressed.

Creases and pleats will remain sharp, seams pressed open and flat areas unwrinkled without ironing if the garments are tumbled dry in a flameless electric dryer, according to the Live Better Electrically Program. But as the clothing manufacturers will tell you, clothesline hanging just won't do the job.

The gentle heat of a flameless electric dryer has two effects on permanent press clothing: It relaxes wrinkles that result from wearing or washing the garment and it makes it "remember" the shape it was given in the permanent press process. Hand ironing is eliminated because ironing is really performed automatically by the heat and fluffing action of the electric drying process.

The dryer gets hot enough to remove unwanted creases; the air flow puffs the garment up to its original permanently pressed shape and a final cool-down tumble prevents any new heat-set wrinkles.

For best results, L.B.E. says, the garments should be hung up as soon as the dryer stops. Then—and only then—is hanging really good enough for permanent press clothes.

Range Is Key To Modern Kitchen Design

The once-homely range is the key to modern kitchen designs that are both stylish and functional, according to a leading kitchen designer.

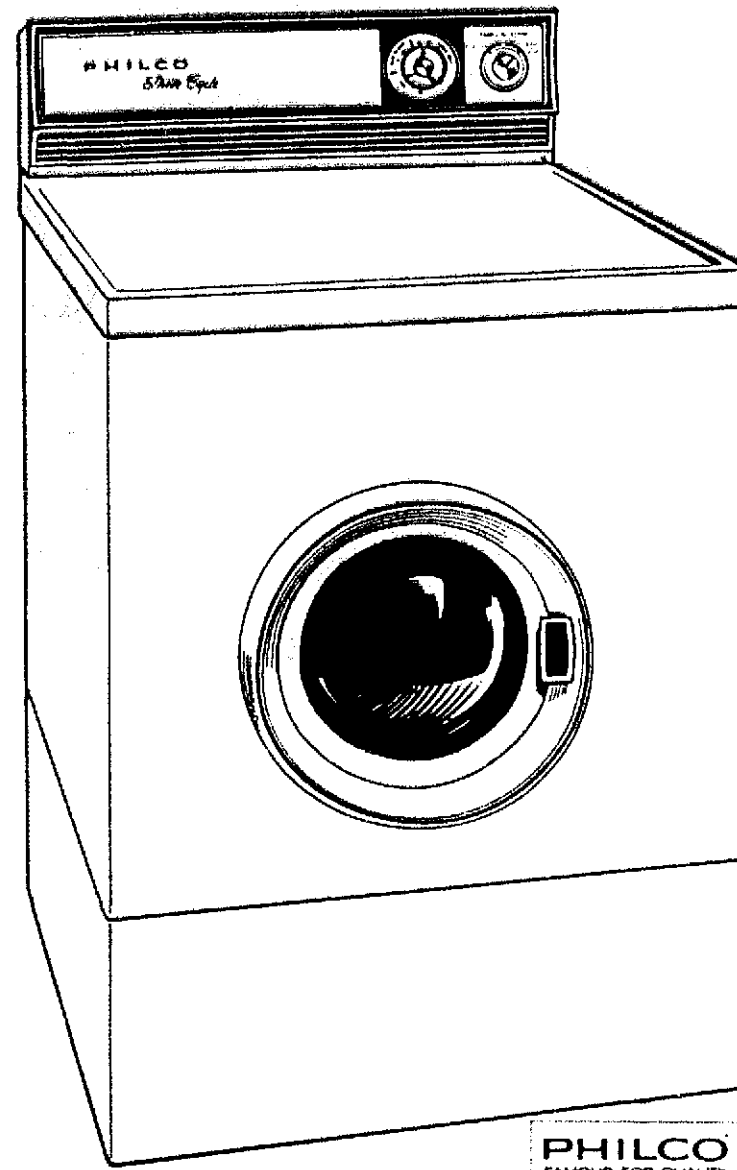

Fred E. Drucker, who has designed kitchens for many famous celebrities, said there is greater consumer interest today in the "specifics" of good kitchen design, with much emphasis on major kitchen appliances.

For example, many women today like the look of natural-grain wood cabinets to dominate their kitchen decor. These women prefer a built-in range, with countertop surface units and a single or double electric oven set into a wall finished in the same wood paneling as the cabinets.

Another popular trend in new kitchens is to stainless steel or brushed chrome. Here the modern sheen of a steel sink unit will be coordinated with a steel-front free-standing or slide-in range, matching dishwasher, and even a stainless or brushed chrome front refrigerator-freezer.

"Regardless of what kind of treatment you prefer, the correct choice of range is essential to a modern, functional kitchen. The great variety of style and size in the new electric ranges, for example, permits a wide latitude in treatments," Drucker stated.

The "built-in" look of modern electric ranges is one important feature that has facilitated better kitchen design. Electric ranges are available in a variety of widths and types to meet the requirements of all kitchens.
